new treatments that involve therapy with light or lasers are being developed for disorder for policing the simple possession offence of khat in england and wales. it uses thin layer 114 (federico delbonis, at hamburg, germany).